CHRISTMAS DINNERS FOR CITY'S WARDS.

All Except Occupants of Jail and Holdover Will Have Turkey to Eat.

SWEETS WILL BE PLENTIFUL.

Vaudeville Show for Insane Asylum—Religious Services Will Be Conducted in All Institutions.

The approach of Christmas Day has not been forgotten at the various city institutions, and special preparations have been made by the respective superintendents to celebrate the occasion for the benefit of their wards.

The City Hospital, the Poorhouse, the Insane Asylum, the Female Hospital and the House of Refuge have all made ready for the day, and even the occupants of the Workhouse are looking forward to a turkey dinner. As for the occupants of the holdover and jail, they will have to depend upon the remembrance of their friends.

At the House of Refuge the 40 children will be treated to the spectacle of two or three Christmas trees, one of which will be arranged in a schoolroom, another in a chapel and possibly a third in one of the wards. A Christmas dinner with the orthodox turkey and cranberries will be served at 12 o'clock and the trees will be reserved as the spectacle of the evening.

Each child will receive a bag of candy and an orange, and there will be a distribution of toys for the younger boys. Religious services suitable for the season were given yesterday, and there will be no special celebration of this sort to-morrow other than the usual chapel service.

At the City Hospital there will be a turkey dinner and religious services. The Episcopal Mission will hold service in the morning and Catholic mission workers will render a high mass in the chapel. It is supposed to have one or two small trees in the various wards, but this matter is in the care of the religious societies, who conduct services at the hospital. The Episcopalian mission will give each patient a five-pound bag of candy.

The Insane Asylum will have a very elaborate entertainment and celebration. Doctor Runge has taken great pains to secure an enjoyable programme for the occasion. To-morrow the patients will have their Christmas dinner.

CRAWFORD'S open tonight until 11 o'clock. Music by the band. Souvenirs to all. The fullest lines of Toys, Dolls and Fancy Goods to select from and always the cheapest.

No Christmas table complete without renowned appetizer, Dr. Siebert's Angostura Bitters.

HOLIDAY TRAVELERS FILL UNION STATION.

Capacity of the Huge Building Taxed Daily With Happy, Hurrying Crowds.

RECORD OF YEAR IS BROKEN.

Ticket Agents Busy Day and Night—Bureau of Information the Center of an Anxious Throng.

The Christmas season has been heralded at Union Station by the influx and efflux of very large crowds.

Each morning and evening the huge building has been filled to the limit of its capacity with happy, hurrying holiday travelers, and all trains have been crowded to overflowing.

The holiday business done at Union Station this year is thought by Station Master Jerry Conkley to exceed that of any past season.

The rush of the increased traffic has descended with a heavy hand upon the employees of the station, especially upon Barney Braunthal of the Bureau of Information and upon the ticket agents. They have been working night and day, and Frauenthal avers that he has lost at least ten pounds.

Frauenthal is supposed to know everything that all of the thousands of people who pass through the station in one night of the present travel want to know. He generally can answer queries without trouble, but when a woman asks, as one did yesterday, whether he'd seen her husband anywhere, he gives up.

The ticket agents have all had more or less the same experience. Each window has been crowded with purchasers morning, noon and night. One old woman wanted a policeman to disperse the crowd at the windows so she could be served.

A young woman bought her ticket, but dropped it as she was pushing her way through the crowd at the window. She thought somebody had taken it and wanted to see if it was hers. The true reason, however, was that she was so tired that she had fallen asleep.

The foremen and office men in the employ of the St. Louis and Suburban Railroad Company will eat turkey to-morrow, with good wishes for the company which employs them. General Manager Jenkins stated yesterday that the road would give a turkey to each of its twenty-two foremen and twenty-five office men.

General Manager Baumhoff of the St. Louis Transit Company said that no arrangements had been made for a general distribution of Christmas remembrances among the employees of his corporation.

The Postal Telegraph Company, on orders from headquarters, will give a turkey to each of its employees in St. Louis.

PASSENGERS LEAPED OFF CAR.

Conveyance Caught Fire and Almost Caused a Panic.

There was a small panic among the passengers of a Belknap car at the intersection of Buchanan street Saturday night. The car, in charge of Motorman Al Young, was speeding north on Eleventh street at that point when a fuse blew out, setting the car on fire. All of the passengers rushed for the door. Before Young stopped the conveyance several passengers among them women, leaped to the street, but none of them was injured.
